The International Studies Institute at UNM presents its 2018 Fall Lecture Series “Migration Stories”:

“We Crossed a Bridge and It Trembled: Voices from Syria”

Prof. Wendy Pearlman, Northwestern University (Political Science)

October 1st, 5:30-6:45pm, in 103 Education Building (immediately east of Zimmerman Library)

Prof. Pearlman will present her book, We Crossed a Bridge and It Trembled: Voices from Syria, an oral history of the Syrian conflict based on interviews she conducted with over 400 displaced Syrians across the Middle East and Europe since 2012. Using Syrians’ own words, the book is a mosaic of stories and thoughts that seeks to express the human dimension of the Syrian war and refugee experience. Her talk chronicles the origins and evolution of the Syrian conflict through the stories of ordinary people who have lived and been transformed by its unfolding, and thereby place the forced migration of millions of Syrians in its larger historical and political context.
